

Project Avalanche

Project Avalanche's Scrum serves as our design documents this time, which is included with the rest of the deliverables and code in PDF format.

The purpose of the project:

To develop a multi-function NFL prediction app on Android studio that will be based on project Ski-lift. This will not only give us experience with Android studio, but familiarize ourselves with the SCRUM and agile development process.